A COMMANDING ENTRANCE.

The Station Offices combines heritage and innovation to deliver a truly distinctive workplace. Standing at the entrance to the former RAF Bicester site, and visited by two reigning monarchs, this Grade II listed landmark is being thoughtfully restored and reimagined for a new generation of occupiers. Its striking original façade will be preserved, while carefully curated industrial materials and contemporary finishes create a seamless blend of history, character and modern functionality.

A century-old building reimagined for today's innovators and pioneers.

The showroom is a key feature of the regeneration project's design. The contemporary glass-box addition offers a striking space ideal for showcasing cars, art, or any distinctive aspect of your business.

This light-filled area is enhanced by a vaulted ceiling, roof lights, and high-level windows, creating an open and impressive display environment. The second story will provide additional space with views across the estate.

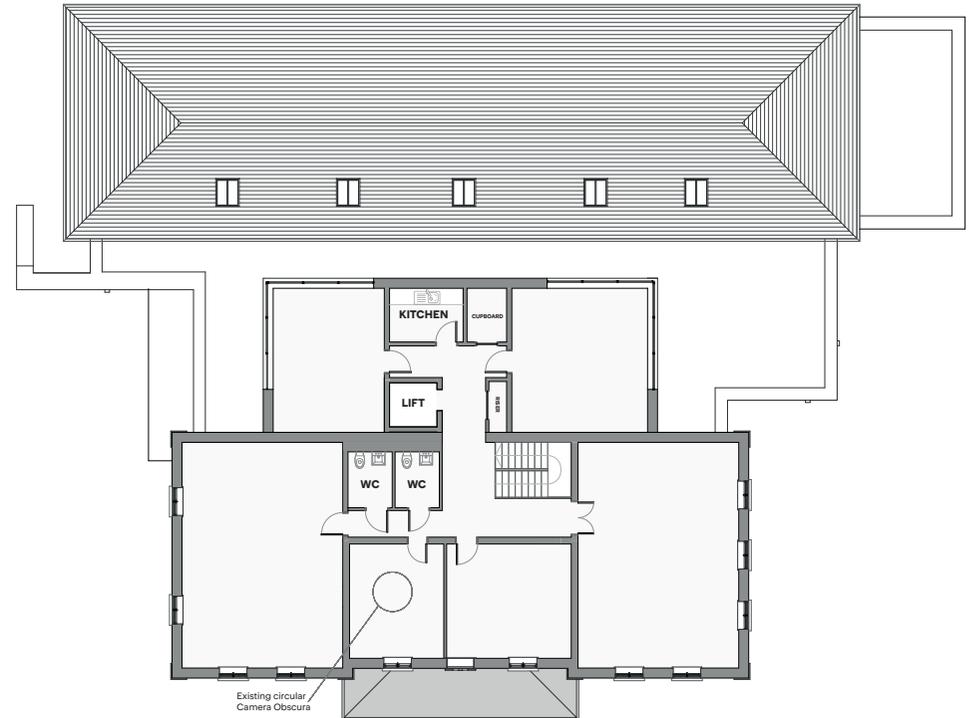

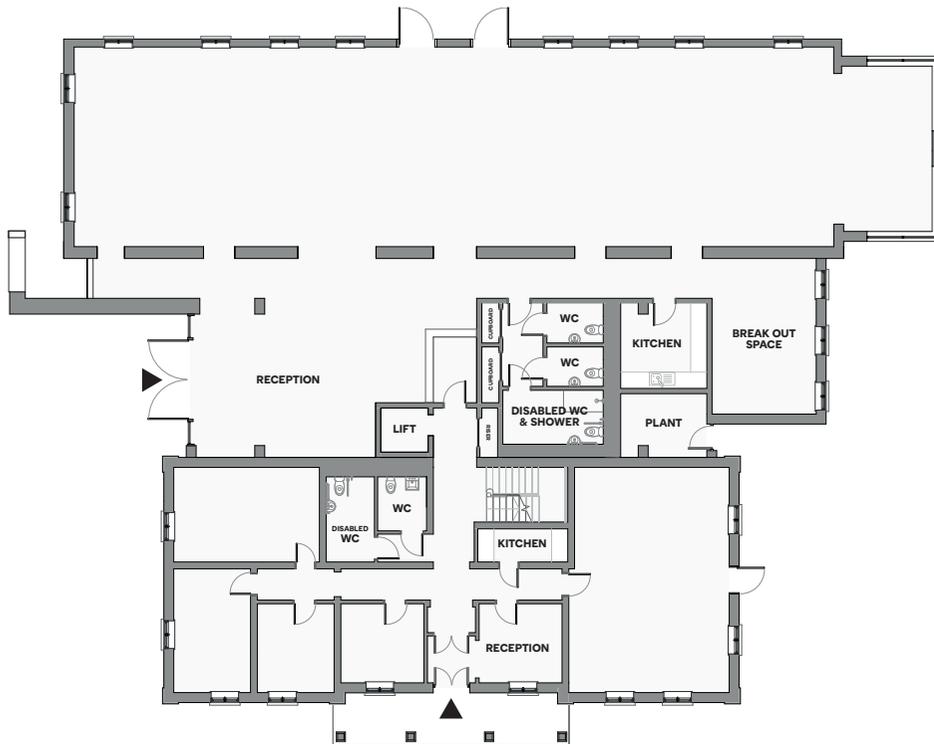

REGENERATIVE DESIGN.

THE SPACE.

Originally known as the Station Headquarters and the Operations Block respectively, the modern floorplan allows for flexible use.

A new additional entrance will be created alongside the original blast wall, offering a contemporary arrival experience that takes inspiration from traditional airfield architecture.
